OPINION

FILED in Common Pleas Court
BUTLER COUNTY, OHIO
AUG 10 1989

CLERK

BRUEWER, J.

This 4th day of August, 1989, this cause came on to be heard before a three judge panel consisting of Judge Henry J. Bruewer, William R. Stitsinger, and John R. Moser, on the remand of the Ohio Supreme Court, reported as State v. Davis (1988), 38 Ohio St. 3d 361, 373 "for a resentencing hearing solely for the purpose of determining whether the remaining aggravating circumstance outweighs the mitigating factors presented by (Defendant), beyond a reasonable doubt." The Court having unanimously found that the aggravating circumstance, of which the defendant was found guilty, outweighs the mitigating factors presented beyond a reasonable doubt, this opinion is made pursuant to Section 2929.03 (F), Ohio Revised Code

The aggravating circumstance in this case is that, prior to the aggravated murder at bar, the Defendant had been convicted of the offense of Second Degree Murder, an essential element of which was the purposeful killing of another, to-wit, the prior purposeful killing of his wife Ernestine Davis in 1970.

We find the following to be mitigating factors:

1) The Defendant adjusted well to prison routine and during his stay in prison, obtained a high school GED and an associate degree in Business Administration, and studied for and worked as a dental technician.

2) There has always been a good family relationship between the Defendant and all members of his family, including his stepfather.

3) Since his release on parole, he has maintaned at least partial employment.

4) As testified by the psychologist, Defendant has a compulsory personality disorder or explosive disorder which may have contributed to the violence in this case.

All of these mitigating factors are considered to be under Section 2929.04 (B) (7), Ohio Revised Code.

We find that this aggravating circumstance outweighs the mitigating factors found by the panel by proof beyond a reasonable doubt, because the factors we find in mitigation are of slight weight. The Defendant's positive prison record, good family relationship, study and accomplishments in prison and employment while on parole were overwhelmingly counterbalanced and outweighed by the aggravating circumstance of his prior conviction for purposeful killing, demonstrating rather convincingly that a prior life sentence was no deterrent at all for this Defendant.

Defendant's explosive personality disorder, which we found may have contributed to the violence in the case at bar, may explain it but in no way excuses it, and is not of such a nature as would have any great mitigating effect. Nothing in the case indicates any verbal or physical confrontation with the victim prior to the killing which would either provoke Defendant or arouse in him a "heat of passion." Defendant's personality disorder perhaps explains now he could commit unprovoked homicidal violence in the case at bar; however, this disorder did not affect the substantial capacity of the Defendant to appreciate the criminality of the crime he engaged in with prior calculation and design, or his substantial capacity to refrain from committing the offense, and indeed is such as would be had of numerous friends, where the death sentence would not be mitigated. In sum, we have a very angry man who set out to kill his victim, having previously been convicted of a prior purposeful killing of another and having found no deterrence from committing the present offense in that prior conviction.

As we are required by Section 2929.04 (B), Ohio Revised Code, to consider the nature and circumstances of the offense, the history, character and background of the offender, and all of the factors in mitigation of the sentence of death presented herein, we find the aggravating circumstance, the Defendant's previous conviction of the prior purposeful killing of his wife in 1970, outweighs the mitigating circumstances beyond a reasonable doubt.

We, therefore, sentence the defendant to death by electrocution on December 4, 1989.

BACKGROUND

This case originated with the filing of an indictment on . 1985, against the defendant, Robert Vanhook, charging him ravated Murder in Count One (1) of the indictment and him with one specification of aggravating circumstances as One (1) thus qualifying this case as a possible death ase under the laws of the State of Ohio. In addition the was charged with aggravated robbery in Count (2).

JUL 9 1985

This opinion deals only with the aggravated murder charge and the specification pertaining to said murder. It is prepared and will be filed with the First District Court of Appeals and with the Supreme Court of Ohio in compliance with the requirements of O.R.C. §2929.03(F).

On April 23, 1985, the defendant was present in court with his attorneys and was initially arraigned. The arraignment proceeding as well as all further matters in this case were handled by Judge Robert S. Kraft of the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

Since the date of arraignment the docket sheet reflects an extensive process of trial preparation. It also reflects a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity and the evaluations of professionals appointed by the Court. Numerous motions were filed before trial. They were heard and ruled upon during the course of the pretrial preparation. All rulings on said motions are reflected either on the docket sheet of the case, directly on the face of the motion or on the record.

EXHIBIT B

GUILT OR INNOCENCE TRIAL

The guilt or innocence trial of the defendant, Robert nhook, commenced on July 15, 1985, after the defendant waived his ght to a jury trial and elected to be tried by a three judge panel. o special venire of seventy-five (75) each had already been drawn d summoned and early excuse requests had been attended to on July , 1985. Approximately one hundred twenty remaining prospective rors were on hand on the day set for trial when the defendant lected to be tried by a three judge panel.

On July 15, 1985, the State commenced its case by producing vidence on the charge of Aggravated Murder as set forth in the First ount of the indictment, evidence as to the specification of ggravating circumstances as to the first count, and evidence on the harges of aggravated robbery as charged in the second count.

During the course of the guilt or innocence proceeding, the State of Ohio and the defense presented witnesses. The thrust of the State's case was designed to prove the elements of the aggravated murder Count as well as the elements of the specification alleged. The thrust of the defense case was to present the defense of not guilty by reason of insanity.

From the evidence adduced there was absolutely no doubt that Robert Vanhook was the sole perpetrator of the murder. In a voluntary taped interview while in police custody he admitted killing David Self and he acknowledged that no one else was present. The disputed questions the three judge panel had to determine was whether or not he committed or attempted to commit the aggravated robbery alleged and whether or not he was insane at the time of the commission of the homicide.

After a review of the evidence including the exhibits and the arguments of counsel as they pertain to both the plea of not guilty and the plea of not guilty by reason of insanity and, upon due deliberation, the three judge panel did, on July 29, 1985, find the defendant guilty of aggravated murder as charged in the First Count ndictment, and also found the defendant guilty of the ction contained in the indictment as it pertained to the ant.

The aggravating circumstance which the defendant, Robert was found guilty of committing was that as principal and perpetrator he committed said aggravated murder:

(1) While committing aggravated robbery.

SENTENCING PROCEEDINGS

On July 31, 1985, after a two day break in the proceedings as necessary in order to have prepared and filed both a mental tion and a presentence report, as requested by the defendant, ond stage of this matter, hereinafter referred to as the ing or Mitigating Proceedings commenced, pursuant to O.R.C. 1(D).

It should be noted that the three Judges were not ered for their deliberations on guilt or innocence or during a day break in the proceedings.

At the sentencing or mitigation proceeding the Court reversed the traditional trial procedure ordering defendant to open first and present his evidence first, while allowing the State to have two closing arguments. This partial reversal of procedure did not, in any way, alter the burden of proof placed upon the State, as the law requires. The three judge panel heard additional testimony, an unsworn statement by defendant and the arguments of respective counsel relative to the factors in favor of and in mitigation of the sentence of death. The Court then recessed the case until August 8, 1985.

Upon due deliberation, the three judge panel on August 8, 1985, found, unanimously, that the State of Ohio proved by proof beyond a reasonable doubt that the aggravating circumstance which the defendant Robert Vanhook was found guilty of committing was sufficient to outweigh the mitigating factors in this case. Consequently the three judge panel decided that the sentence of death be imposed as mandated by the provisions of O.R.C. §2929.03(D)(2).

IMPOSITION OF SENTENCE PROCEEDINGS

On August 8, 1985, the three judge panel proceeded to pose sentence pursuant to O.R.C. §2929.03(D)(3). On that same te, the three judge panel filed its written opinion in the case as quired by O.R.C. §2929.03(F).

This three judge panel found by proof beyond a reasonable ubt, upon a review of the relevant evidence in both proceedings, e testimony, exhibits, statement of the defendant, not under oath, guments of respective counsel, along with the presentence report d mental examination report requested by defendant, that the ggravating circumstance which the defendant, Robert Vanhook, was ound guilty of committing did outweigh the mitigating factors in the ase and, therefore, on August 8, 1985, this three judge panel mposed the sentence of death upon the defendant, Robert Vanhook, rdering said execution to take place on December 19, 1985.

The provisions of O.R.C. §2929.03(F) now require this three judge panel to state in a separate opinion its specific findings as to the existence of any of the mitigating factors specifically enumerated in O.R.C. §2929.04(B) or the existence of any other mitigating factors, and also requires the three judge panel to state reasons why the aggravating circumstances that the offender was found guilty of committing were sufficient to outweigh the mitigating factors, since that is what the three judge panel has in fact found by imposing the death penalty. In other words the three judge panel must put in writing the justification for their sentence.

In meeting their responsibility under the statute, the three judge panel reviewed all mitigating factors described in O.R.C. §2929.04(B) as well as any other mitigating factors raised by the defendant and now indicates what conclusions were reached from the evidence as to each. Those possible mitigating factors specifically set forth in the statute are as follows:

(1) Whether the victim of the offense induced or facilited it;

(2) Whether it is unlikely that the offense would have en committed, but for the fact that the offender was under duress, ercion, or strong provocation;

(3) Whether, at the time of committing the offense, the fender, because of a mental disease or defect, lacked substantial pacity to appreciate the criminality of his conduct or to conform s conduct to the requirements of the law;

(4) The youth of the offender;

(5) The offender's lack of a significant history of prior iminal convictions and delinquency adjudications;

(6) If the offender was a participant in the offense but t the principal offender, the degree of the offender's participa-on in the offense and the degree of the offender's participation in s acts that led to the death of the victim;

(7) Any other factors that are relevant to the issue of ether the offender should be sentenced to death, and

(8) The nature and circumstances of the offense, the history, character and background of the offender.

The three judge panel will first, however, review the aggravating circumstances which the defendant has been found guilty of committing and will indicate the reasons for their conclusions.

AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCES

The aggravating circumstance that the defendant, Robert Vanhook, was found guilty of committing was that the aggravated murder was committed while Robert Vanhook was committing aggravated robbery, and the said Robert Vanhook was the principal offender in the commission of the aggravated murder at the time the aggravated robbery was committed.

In deliberating upon their decision in this case as required by O.R.C. §2929.03(D)(3), the three judge panel evaluated all of the relevant evidence raised at both proceedings, the testimony, other evidence, the unsworn statement of the defendant and the arguments of respective counsel along with the presentence report and mental examination report requested by defendant.

The principles of law which guided this three judge panel contained in written jury instructions which would have been ided to a jury during the two proceedings. The evidence and imony was tested by the three judge panel from the viewpoint of ibility and relevancy to the existence of an aggravating umstance along with its qualitative and quantitative measure. crime of aggravated robbery was deemed by the General Assembly of State of Ohio to be among the most serious when a general sion of the Criminal code was made on January 1, 1974. This e separately stated is a first degree felony. In O.R.C. 9.04, the General Assembly mandated the imposition of the death lty for an aggravated murder committed during commission of this ase.

In the guilt or innocence proceeding, at which defendant not testify and in the sentencing proceeding, in which the defen- t did make an unsworn statement along with statements of defense counsel in argument, there was never a denial in any respect that defendant was the sole and principal perpetrator of the offense charged in the first count of the indictment. A complete review of the evidence pertaining to count one and the specification of the aggravating circumstance as to count one reveals to this three judge panel beyond any doubt that the murder was committed by the defendant and by he alone.

Furthermore, the three judge panel concludes that the defendant's version of the events in his taped confession establishes beyond any doubt that his intentions were crystal clear on February 18, 1985, when he made the acquaintance of David Self in the Subway Bar. His intention from beginning to end was to rob the victim at some point in their evening's activities. The evidence also establishes beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant choked the victim into unconsciousness, and searched the victim for valuables; finding none, he became enraged. Furthermore, it is beyond any doubt that at some point in time the defendant went to the kitchen, took a knife from a drawer and commenced mutilating the victim's body in a it bizarre way. This part of his conduct that evening would have be considered irrational. However, everything else he did that aning would have to be considered completely rational.

His modus operandi was clear. Since the age of fifteen he d been accousting and robbing homosexuals and he was intending to the same thing again.

His efforts at concealment in smudging his bloody ngerprints and stuffing the knife handle first into the stomach ound were quite lucid acts and his visit to his friend Dr. Hoy for ood and money were the acts of a totally rational person, his sparture from the city and the discarding of stolen necklaces and a eather jacket, were obvious rational acts designed to avoid tection.

It was, therefore, the three judge panel's conclusion upon full and complete review of all of the relevant evidence that there as proof beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant committed an ggravated robbery; and that he killed David Self while committing hat aggravated robbery. There was also a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity entered and on this issue evidence was presented. The defendant called upon Dr. Emmett George Cooper and the State called upon Drs. Nancy Schmittgoessling and Teresito Alquizola.

Their testimony collectively established that the defendant had a personality disorder which was neither a mental disease nor mental illness and that the defendant could and did distinguish between right and wrong on the night in question. Furthermore, they concluded that much of what the defendant did on the night in question confirmed their own conclusions that he knew what he was doing and could have desisted from doing what he did. However, there was evidence to suggest that while under voluntary intoxication it was possible that the defendant lost touch with reality for some unspecified period of time while he mutilated the body of the victim, David Self, and while he acted out conduct he claimed was part of his military training and the influences of either his Viet Nam connections or movies he had seen about the Viet Nam War.

The three judge panel considered this version of the way of the event provided to the three doctors by the defendant pared this version with the one provided in the defendant's confession and recognized discrepancies sufficient to cause the judge panel to conclude that the defendant was attempting to a story which might cause the three judge panel to conclude he was not in control of his faculties at the time he committed heinous act. Considering the legal definition of the plea of guilty by reason of insanity and weighing the more credible nce against the requirement of the law, the three judge panel luded that the defendant failed to meet his burden of proof ssary to establish insanity at the time of the crime and refore rejected this defense.

MITIGATING FACTORS

The three judge panel will now review all possible igating factors indicating whether or not they were present and if what, if any, consideration the Court gave to them. Those listed O.R.C. §2929.04(B) are as follows:

(1) "Whether the victim of the offense induced or facilitated it." The three judge panel finds absolutely no evidence whatsoever to suggest that David Self in any respect induced or facilitated the offense. This factor was not present.

(2) "Whether it is unlikely that the offense would have been committed, but for the fact that the offender was under duress, coercion, or stong provocation." Again, the three judge panel finds absolutely no evidence that would suggest that the defendant was under duress, coercion or strong provocation. This factor was not present.

(3) "Wherefore, at the time of committing the offense, the offender, because of a mental disease or defect, lacked substantial capacity to appreciate the criminality of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of the law." The three judge panel finds absolutely no evidence that would suggest that the defendant suffered from a mental disease or defect.

(4) "The youth of the offender." The three judge panel de that the defendant was born January 14, 1960, and at the time this trial was 25 years of age. There is absolutely no evidence suggest that he was a youthful offender or that his age was a tor that should be taken into account in mitigation of the tence of death. This factor was not present.

(5) "The offender's lack of a significant history of prior minal convictions and delinquent adjudications." The record in s case, including the exhibits offered by the defense and the timony which the three judge panel has considered indicates that defendant, Robert Vanhook, had numerous contacts with the law
th as a juvenile and as an adult extending over a period of 14
rs. Therefore the three judge panel would be precluded from ing the defendant consideration pursuant to mitigating factor ber five.

(6) "If the offender was a participant in the offense but t the principal offender the degree of the offender's participation the offense and the degree of the offender's participation in the acts that led to the death of the victim." The three judge panel finds in this case that there was absolutely no evidence to suggest that any other person was involved in the aggravated robbery and murder of David Self, other than the defendant, Robert Vanhook. Therefore, this factor was not present.

In summary, based upon the relevant evidence presented, possible mitigating factors number one, two, three, four, five and six, described in O.R.C. §2929.04(B) were not present, and could not be the subject of any consideration by this three judge panel as it relates to mitigation of the penalty of death.

The three judge panel will now review the remaining possible mitigating factors enumerated in O.R.C. Section 2929.04(B).

(7) "Any other factors that are relevant to the issue of whether the offender should be sentenced to death," and

(8) "The nature and circumstances of the offense, the history, character and background of the offender."

The history, character and background of the defendant and y other factors that are relevant to the issue or whether the nader should be sentenced to death" are closely interrelated and l be reviewed as interrelated.

The nature and circumstances of this offense appear clear the three judge panel. Therefore, it will not be the panel's ention to reiterate in this opinion each and every sordid detail the afternoon and early evening hours preceding the death of David lf. The testimony of police officers, criminalists and deputy oner who case upon the scene in the apartment of David Self, at 35 Madison Rd., Apt. 26, Hamilton County, Ohio, revealed a gruesome nario. It is quite clear that David Self was found on the floor his apartment, blood splattered everywhere, with innumerable knife nds about his body. In a gaping stomach wound was the knife that n used to bring about his death.

In the words of the defendant, on a taped statement to the lice, the only living witness to the incident, he related what ppened that evening. The victim, David Self, kneeled in front of the defendant to perform an oral sexual act. They were in close proximity and the defendant grabbed and choked the victim into unconsciousness. Finding no money on the victim incensed the defendant. He got a paring knife from the kitchen and in an act of rage cut his throat four or five times and stuck the knife into the victim's skull behind the ears repeatedly to "scramble" the brains; then he cut a gaping wound in the victim's stomach, stuck the knife into the stomach cavity and attempted to cut the heart, without complete success. The defendant's version of the events has differed from that which he gave in his taped confession and that given to the three doctors. The true circumstances of the offense must be gleaned from the testimony of the State's witnesses who described the scene, the victim's condition, the condition of the apartment which was viewed by the three judge panel and the actions of the defendant immediately before and immediately after the attack.

The history, character and background of the defendant, ...ert Vanhook, are very closely interrelated with the remaining ...igating factors to be discussed and will be interspersed with a ...cussion of these specific factors argued in mitigation.

The three judge panel have specifically reviewed the ...idence offered regarding the background of the defendant. It seems necessary in this opinion to repeat all of the pertinent factors of ...s background that may have impacted upon his conduct. The three ...dge panel is well aware that all of the evidence will be a part of ...e record that will be reviewed by the appellate courts and therefore will simply summarize what it deems to be some pertinent aspects of this defendant's history and background.

While the three judge panel recognizes that all of the records in this case indeed indicate the defendant had a very tragic and unfortunate upbringing, with no love or parental guidance, with continual and excessive use of alcohol and other drugs and with constant negative reinforcement of his personality, the three judge panel is also satisfied that the records, testimony and evidence, reflect conclusively that the defendant has never suffered from a mental disease or defect which would have prevented the defendant from distinguishing right from wrong or would have prevented him from conforming his conduct to the requirements of the law. In other words the defendant has never suffered from any psychosis. Instead, he has been diagnosed over many years as having a borderline personality disorder which manifests itself in all types of antisocial behavior. This disorder is not a product of a mental illness or disease, so says the overwhelming weight of the professional testimony.

It is true, that the defendant was afflicted with deficiencies of personality which suggested that he was destined to get into trouble. However, those same personality characteristics which allowed him to live and work within a community and society in a peaceful fashion when he chose to, compels this Court to a conclusion that the defendant functioned as a rational human being during the period of time surrounding the criminal activity of which he has been convicted.

This is not to say that the defendant was a totally normal n being. Time and time again professionals diagnosed him as ng problems; of being a problem; of showing little motivation.
anifested a passivity which at times could be deceiving. But ughout his life, his true personality reflected a desire to do thing whenever he wished, regardless of the consequences.

In considering whether or not the defendant, at the time of itting the offense because of a mental disease or defect, lacked stantial capacity to appreciate the criminality of his conduct, or conform his conduct to the requirements of law, the three judge el reviewed the expert testimony of Drs. Emmett Cooper, Nancy idtgoessling and Teresito Alquizola and the mental examination ort of Dr. Donna E. Hinter. Their collective and lengthy timony and reports offer credible and compelling testimony in the e with respect to the sanity of the defendant. They all aracterized the defendant as not having a mental disease or illness t not being psychotic. They all found the defendant to have personality problems and classified him in the lexicon of the profession as being a borderline personality which was not due to any mental illness or disease.

As an example, Dr. Nancy Schmidtgoessling, a clinical psychologist, found that the actions of Mr. Vanhook were classical for a borderline personality. She pointed out that the defendant has admitted what he had done, and has had complete and total recall of the incident even to the extent of saying that he did intend to rob his victim and that he got angry because he did not find any money on the victim. He also described in much detail his efforts at covering up his presence and his escape, clearly showing complete touch with reality at all times. Dr. Schmidtgoessling in describing the defendant as having a borderline personality disorder stated, however, that he was not mentally ill even though she did see disturbance of functioning in some of his conduct. She acknowledged that while Mr. Vanhook may have been out of control at the time of his attack on David Self, and his ability to refrain from the act may have been seriously impaired at that moment, that inability to was not the result of mental illness or mental disease or :efect. It was the result of being angry, one of the :ristics of a borderline personality disorder and this anger

:ipitated by failure to find money and by the enhancement of untary ingestion of alcohol and other drugs of abuse.

Dr. Teresito Alquizola, a psychiatrist, said that he felt endant had a character disorder but that he was aware of what doing; was aware of the intentions of his actions; that he did
:e a mental disease or defect, he did have the capacity to know ongfulness of his contact and if there were another person in m at the time he would have been able to refrain.

Dr. Emmett Cooper, a psychiatrist, called by the defendant d much the same conclusion concerning the nature of the 'ant's problems. His medical conclusion was that the defendant t suffering from a mental defect or illness at the time of the which would have prevented him from conforming his conduct to w or from knowing the difference between right or wrong.
r, he concluded that the defendant did have a borderline personality and because of a voluntary ingestion of alcohol and or drugs suffered a transient psychotic episode during which he was not in touch with reality.

The three judge panel concluded that there was no evidence that the offender in this case, because of a mental disease or defect, lacked substantial capacity to appreciate the criminality of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of law. In arriving at this conclusion it should be noted that the three judge panel recognized and considered the testimony of Dr. Emmett Cooper who was called as a defense expert witness. Upon careful examination of Dr. Cooper's testimony this three judge panel is satisfied that when rendering his opinion in this case, he was careful to walk a very fine professional line. He was willing to acknowledge a similar diagnosis as his other professional colleagues, that is a borderline personality disorder, but sought to go further in suggesting that the ingestion of alcohol and or other drugs of abuse caused the defendant to lose touch with reality. Although he didn't verbalize it in exactly this fashion, he was want to suggest that a form of temporary insanity situation occurred. The three judge panel chose not to accept this theory to explain the defendant's bizarre conduct.

The three judge panel now moves to a discussion and examination of any other factor that may be relevant to the issue of whether the defendant should be spared from a sentence of death. The intelligence of the defendant, Robert Vanhook, has never been questioned by either side in this case. It is readily apparent that the defendant functioned in a normal range for his age. It was clear that his earlier years were chaotic and he suffered from a significant degree of neglect and abuse. But this fact alone certainly cannot excuse his conduct. The defendant from about the age of fifteen has been involved in a sordid life style and has been a parasite on society preying on homosexuals for a livelihood. It is also recognized that the defendant is drug and alcohol dependent.

The three judge panel recognize that the death penalty is the most severe penalty that can be imposed by man against man and that it should only be imposed after a most careful and meticulous review of the facts and law have taken place. It is believed that such an evaluation of the facts and law in this case had been undertaken by this three judge panel in reaching their decision.

CONCLUSION

The sole issue which confronted the three judge panel is stated as follows:

> DID THE STATE OF OHIO PROVE BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT THAT THE AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCE WHICH THE DEFENDANT, ROBERT VANHOOK, WAS FOUND GUILTY OF COMMITTING OUTWEIGH THE FACTORS IN MITIGATION OF THE IMPOSITION OF THE SENTENCE OF DEATH?

In this regard all of the statutory mitigating circumstances and all other possible mitigating factors raised by counsel have now been reviewed and discussed. The same has been done with the aggravating circumstance.

Upon full, careful and complete scrutiny of all the mitigating factors set forth in the statute or called to the three judge panel's attention by defense counsel in any manner and after considering fully the aggravating circumstance which exist and has been proven beyond a reasonable doubt, the three judge panel concludes that the aggravating circumstance does outweigh all the mitigating factors advanced by defendant beyond a reasonable doubt as required by O.R.C. §2929.03(D)(3).

For all the above stated reasons the three judge panel did impose a sentence of death.

SEPARATE OPINION REQUIRED BY SECTION 2929.03, THE REVISED CODE OF OHIO

Pursuant to Section 2929.03 F of the Revised Code of Ohio, the Court being a panel of three judges does hereby state in a Separate Opinion as follows:

A. EXISTENCE OF ANY MITIGATING FACTORS SET FORTH IN DIVISION B OF SECTION 2929.04.

The Court has considered in accordance with Revised Code of Ohio, Section 2929.04 the following mitigating factors:

1. The nature and circumstances of the offense.
2. The history, character and background of the offender. (See Defendant's Mitigation Exhibit No. 4)

We find that the Defendant has established by a preponderance of the evidence the following mitigating factors:

1. The youth of the offender - age 23.
2. That although the Defendant had been found guilty of certain offenses in his home community, the Defendant lacked significant history of prior criminal conviction and delinquency adjudications.

We further find that the Defendant has not established by a preponderance of the evidence Mitigating Factors 1, 2, 3 and 6 as set forth in 2929.04 B.

B. EXISTENCE OF ANY OTHER MITIGATING FACTORS.

The Defendant presented the following factors which the Court has considered:

1. Evidence of character.
2. Use of alcohol and drugs.
3. Employment history.
4. Emotional stability.
5. Family relationships.
6. Educational background and native intelligence. (See Defendant's Mitigation Exhibit No. 3)
7. Unverified and unattested questionnaires on John David Stumpf. (See Defendant's Mitigation Exhibit No. 6). The alleged preparer name appears in response to Question No. 30 with no indication it is or is intended as a signature. The questionnaries were prepared by person or persons unknown.

I hereby certify this to be a true copy of the original filed in this office on September 24 1984

8. Summary results of questionnaires. (See Defendant's Mitigation Exhibit No. 5)
9. Leadership qualities.

Factors 1 through 9 were not established as mitigating factors by a preponderance of the evidence.

C. AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCES THE DEFENDANT WAS FOUND GUILTY OF COMMITTING.

The offense was committed for the purpose of escaping detection, apprehension, trial or punishment for other offenses committed by the Defendan to-wit: Aggravated Robbery and Attempted Aggravated Murder.

D. REASONS WHY THE AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCES THE OFFENDER WAS FOUND GUILTY OF COMMITTING WERE SUFFICIENT TO OUTWEIGH THE MITIGATING FACTORS:

1. The Court finds beyond a reasonable doubt that the Defendant was the principal offender in count one of the indictment.
2. The methodical manner in which the Defendant and his companion entered the house of the victims and assumed control of the victims. Examples:
   a. Wiping of fingerprints from the telephone.
   b. The dialogue of the Defendant with his companion. (See attached Transcript A)
   c. The initiative taken by the Defendant in the course of that dialogue leading up to and directing the victims into the bedroom.
   d. Continual holding both victims at gunpoint by the Defendant.
   e. The Defendant shooting the male victim at close range between the eyes.
   f. The Defendant firing a second shot into the head of the male victim.
   g. The Defendant and his companion engaging in dialogue in the proximity of the male victim followed by four shots, the bullets of which were found in the head and body of Mary Jane Stout.
3. Failure of the Defendant and his companion to render assistance to the victims.
4. Defendant and his companion fleeing immediately from the scene with the victims' automobile and personal property including firearms and ammunition.
5. The Defendant actively participated in the sale of guns stolen from the home of the victims.
6. The Course of conduct of the Defendant both before and after the commission of the offense in the travel through the country with a quantity of beer and guns.

7. The Defendant's companion firing a gun into a passing vehicle in route.
8. The Defendant made no effort to disassociate himself from his companions.
9. The direct evidence of a gang operation of robbery, assault and other crimes.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS

BUTLER COUNTY, OHIO

STATE OF OHIO,

Plaintiff,

CASE NO. 82-04-0443(A)

This opinion is filed pursuant to the requirements of R.C. 2929.03(F).

On October 7, 1982, pursuant to R.C. 2923(D)(1), the Panel conducted a hearing relative to sentencing concerning the aggravating circumstances the Defendant was found guilty of committing and the mitigating factors set forth in R.C. 2929.04, and further, received and considered the evidence presented at trial, the pre-sentence investigation report, reports of mental examinations made, as well as statements of the Defendant and counsel.

The Panel finds beyond a reasonable doubt the following aggravating circumstances:

1. The Defendant shot the victim, Pearl Woods, intentionally and purposely caused her death while the Defendant was committing or attempting to commit an aggravated robbery;

2. The Defendant was the principal offender in the commission of the aggravated murder.

The Panel finds the following mitigating factors:

1. There was no prior calculation and design to kill the victim;

2. While the Defendant purposely killed the victim, he acted upon instantaneous deliberation motivated by fear;

3. The Defendant, while having been previously convicted of aggravated robbery, lacked a significant history of criminal convictions or delinquency adjudications.

Upon considering and weighing the aggravating circumstances proved beyond a reasonable doubt, the mitigating factors, the nature and circumstances of the offense, the history, character and background of the Defendant, all of which bear upon the question of whether or not the offender should be sentenced to death, the Court cannot find unanimously that the aggravating circumstances, which were proven beyond a reasonable doubt, were sufficient to outweigh the mitigating factors, and hence, the Defendant could not be sentenced to death.

Accordingly, the sentence set forth in the Judgment Entry filed herein was imposed.

Defendant :

I, Von Clark Davis, defendant in the above cause, appearing in open court this 8th day of May, 1984, with my attorneys, Michael D. Shanks and John A. 2) That on May 8, 1984, I appeared in the Butler County Common Pleas Court. The purpose of this appearance was to waive my trial by jury.

3) During this hearing, the trial court told to me that I could have my capital case tried to twelve jurors or a three judge panel.

4) While explaining the two choices, the trial court informed me that the jury would have to be "convinced" of my guilt. By contrast, the trial court stated that the three judge panel would have to find my guilt "beyond a reasonable doubt."

5) The information the trial court gave me on May 8, 1984, formed a part of my decision to elect to be tried by a three judge panel rather than a jury.

I, Von Clark Davis, being first duly sworn according to law, state the following:

1) I am the Defendant-Petitioner in the above-captioned case.

2) I was charged with one count of Aggravated Murder. This count carried a capital specification, a prior purposeful murder, pursuant to O.R.C. 2929.04(A)(5). I was also charged with Having a Weapon Under Disability in violation of O.R.C. 2923.13.

3) On May 4, 1984, I elected to have the prior murder specification determined by a judge pursuant to O.R.C. 2929.022. I made this decision because I did not want the jury to hear about my prior murder during the guilt phase of my capital trial.

4) I also wanted my weapon under disability charge to be tried separately. Accordingly, my attorneys filed a Motion to Sever that count.

5) On May 8, 1984, the trial court overruled that motion. With the trial court's decision I knew the jury would hear about my prior murder.

6) At this point I felt the jury would not be able to separate my prior murder from the current capital charge. As a result, I had no choice but to waive my right to trial by jury.

7) Had the trial court severed the charges, I would not have waived my trial by jury.

1) I am an attorney licensed to practice law in the State of Ohio.

2) John Garretson and I represented Petitioner Davis at his capital trial and on resentencing in the above-captioned case.

3) Petitioner Davis was capitally charged in a two count indictment. The first count charged aggravated murder and carried one death penalty specification: Ohio Rev. Code Ann. Section 2929.04(A)(5), a prior purposeful murder. The second count of the indictment charged Petitioner with having a weapon under disability pursuant to O.R.C. 2923.13.

4) My co-counsel and I discussed with Petitioner the ramifications of having the jury exposed to his prior murder through his O.R.C. 2929.04(A)(5) specification. Based on this discussion, on May 4, 1984, Petitioner elected under O.R.C. 2929.022 to have his capital specification determined by the trial court.

5) Mr. Garretson and I also discussed with Petitioner Davis the fact that if the having a weapon under disability charge was not severed from his capital charge, the jury could still hear evidence concerning his prior murder.

6) As a result of these discussions, Mr. Garretson and I filed a Motion to Sever the weapon under disability charge.

7) The trial court subsequently denied that motion.

8) After this ruling, Mr. Garretson and I advised Petitioner that the jury would be exposed to his prior murder charge. This exposure would be very prejudicial to any jury and would prevent a fair guilt determination of his capital charge.

9) We told Petitioner that we felt the trial court left us no option and we advised him that he should waive his trial by jury. Our advice rested ~~solely~~ MAINLY on the trial court's failure to sever.

10) On May 8, 1984, Petitioner accepted our advice and waived his right to trial by jury.

AFFIDAVIT OF HARRY REINHART

STATE OF OHIO,

COUNTY OF FRANKLIN, SS:

I, Harry Reinhart, being first duly sworn according to law, state the following:

1) I am an attorney at law with offices at 536 South High Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215. I am a member of the Ohio Bar (1978) and admitted to practice in the Northern (1984) and Southern (1979) Federal District Court of Ohio, the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals (1984), and the United States Supreme Court (1984).

2) I am a 1978 Graduate of the Capital University School of Law (Franklin County). I joined the staff of the Ohio Public Defender Commission in 1979 where I practiced exclusively in the field of criminal law. In June of 1988 I left that office to enter the private practice of law and my practice is limited primarily to criminal defense.

3) During my tenure with the Ohio Public Defender Commission, I was appointed as the first Chief Appellate Counsel, authored and edited the Ohio Criminal Trial Manual, created and administered the seminar program, including the initiation of the Ohio Public Defender Advocacy Institute. In addition, I assisted in the formation of the Ohio Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers of which I am a Director and Founding Member. I am presently serving as Vice President of the Amicus/Strike Force Committee.

4) I am a member of the American Bar Association, the Ohio Bar Association, the Columbus Bar Association, the Ohio Academy of Trial Lawyers, the Franklin County Trial Lawyers Association, the National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers, the Ohio Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers, the Death Penalty Task Force, the Southern Poverty Law Center, the Association to Abolish the Death Penalty, and the American Civil Liberties Union.

5) I am qualified under Rule 65 of the Ohio Supreme Court Rules of Superintendence for Courts of Common Pleas to function as lead counsel at trial, on appeal, and at the state post-conviction level. This rule governs the appointment of counsel for indigent defendants in capital cases. I am also qualified under 21 U.S.C. Section 848(q) for appointment in federal capital cases and habeas corpus petitions filed by persons under a death sentence pursuant to 21 U.S.C. Sections 2254 and 2255.

6) I have extensive experience in both trial and appellate litigation in capital cases. I have been both lead and co-counsel at the trial and appellate levels. I have drafted and filed petitions for certiorari to the United States Supreme Court and have experience in post-conviction practice on both the state and federal levels. I have lectured on these and related topics at seminars sponsored by the Ohio Public Defender Commission, the Ohio Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers, the Ohio Association of Trial Lawyers, as well as various local bar associations. I am presently serving as Chairman of the Criminal Law Committee for the Franklin County Trial Lawyers Association.

7) I have previously been qualified as an expert and have presented testimony at capital post-conviction hearings. See State v. Buell, No. CR-189356 (Cuy. C.P.); State v. J.D. Scott, No. CR-182521 (Cuy. C.P.). See, also, State v. Byrd, No. B-831662A (Ham. C.P.). In addition, I represent three (3) death row inmates, one on direct appeal, one in state post-conviction and another in federal habeas. I have recently completed three capital cases at the state trial court level, two of which resulted in life verdicts and one a plea to aggravated murder. Since the date Ohio's new death penalty statute became effective (October 1981), I have been involved as either lead counsel or co-counsel in over one dozen capital cases, including State v. Larry Lee (Washington County), State v. Larry Sabo (Athens County), State v. James L. Ratler (Franklin County), State v. Harold Heath (Belmont County), State v. Vincent Simone (Champaign County), State v. Wesley Vincent (Ross County), State v. Bulerin (Allen County), and State v. Yee (Erie). In addition, I have consulted with and assisted in the representation of capitally-charged defendants by other attorneys in numerous other cases, including State v. Dale Johnston (Hocking County), State v. Drewey Kiser (Ross County), State v. Spirko (Van Wert County), State v. Eddie Hill (Belmont County), State v. Richard Joseph (Allen County), and State v. John Parsons (Franklin County).

8) I have argued cases in the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Tenth, and Twelfth appellate judicial districts in Ohio, as well as the Ohio Supreme Court and the United States Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. I presently have cases pending in both the Northern and Southern Federal Districts of Ohio, and have authored amicus briefs for the Ohio Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers in the United States Supreme Court in Penson v. Ohio, ___ U.S. ___, 109 S. Ct. 346, 102 L.Ed. 2d 300 (1988); Powers v. Ohio, No. 89 5011; and Ohio v. Huertas, No. 89-1944.

9) I was contacted by Joann Bour-Stokes and she requested that I express my opinion of the accepted standards of practice for capital litigation at the trial level, especially those standards involving a three judge panel.

10) The decision whether or not to waive a jury and try the case to a three-judge panel is a crucial decision. Ohio's three-judge panel provision in capital cases has no counterpart in other state statutes, and therefore the standards of practice relating to this technique are uniquely Ohio standards. Counsel must recognize that the same factors which affect jurors in a capital case also affect judges. In addition, counsel must be aware that judges stand for reelection and are therefore concerned about public perception of themselves. It is beyond dispute that judges, as politicians, fight for public recognition and that the criminal docket is by far the most effective means of garnering publicity. The Code of Judicial Conduct prohibits judges during campaigns from speaking about or commenting on any issue which may come before them thus further hindering any particular candidate's or judge's ability to communicate his/her position on various important social issues such as crime. Thus, as a very practical matter, an Ohio trial court judge's conduct of a capital trial and more importantly, the result and sentence, becomes an important tool in communicating with the electorate. These are realistic factors that must be taken into consideration when advising a client about his right to waive a jury and try a case to a three-judge panel.

11) As a result of these very practical considerations a very specific standard of practice has developed in Ohio with respect to jury waivers in capital cases. Because of the extraordinary and unusual risks associated with waiving a jury trial right in favor of a three-judge panel, the jury trial right should never be waived without reservation of the option to withdraw the waiver in the event that the three-judge panel returns a death sentence. The reservation of this right should be made in open court and on the record.

12) Failure to meet this standard evidences unreasonable professional judgment and heightens the probability that a client will be sentenced to death with little or no hope of relief on appeal at post-conviction or on resentencing.

Ohio's three-judge panel provision in capital cases has no counterpart in other state statutes, and therefore the standards of practice relating to this technique are uniquely Ohio standards.

11) The Ohio Supreme Court has adopted a rule in capital cases that the Court, in reviewing the case, will presume that the panel considered only relevant, material, and competent evidence in reaching its decision unless the record affirmatively demonstrates otherwise. State v. White, 15 Ohio St. 2d 146 (1968); State v. Post, 32 Ohio St. 3d 380 (1987).

12) The Ohio presumption is effectively irrebuttable. Only if the record affirmatively shows that the trial court considered improper evidence will an appellate court find its admission to be error. The standard for an affirmative showing on the record is almost impossible to meet. The defendant has no way to create such a record because he cannot attend the court's deliberations. Only if the court happens to mention the particular evidence at issue in pronouncing sentence or in its opinion, can the defendant make the required showing.

13) Equal protection requires that all capital defendants be tried on the same quality of evidence. Due process requires that the rules of evidence be applied fairly and that capital defendants not be deprived of a fair determination of their cases. Capital defendants in Ohio are deprived of these rights when they elect to be tried and sentenced before a three-judge panel.

14) These are realistic factors that must be taken into consideration when advising a client about his right to waive a jury and try a case to a three-judge panel.

15) As a result of the very practical considerations a very specific standard of practice has developed in Ohio with respect to jury waivers in capital cases.

16) A capital defendant should always be advised by his attorneys prior to waiving a jury trial that his case will be subject to a lesser standard of review on appeal if tried before a three-judge panel.

17) This facet of capital litigation is recognized and has been recognized in Ohio. It serves as a minimum standard of practice for capital litigation in cases tried to a three-judge panel. Failure to meet this standard evidences unreasonable professional judgment and heightens the probability that a client's conviction and sentence of death will be affirmed on appeal regardless of errors occurring at trial. Counsel who represented Petitioner Davis at trial fell below this standard.

18) Failure to meet this standard evidences unreasonable professional judgment and heightens the probability that a client will be convicted and sentenced to death with little or no hope of relief on appeal.

I, Milton Flowers, being first duly sworn according to law, state the following:

1) I am a family friend of Petitioner Davis.

2) I became acquainted with Petitioner's family when I lived next door to them in Hamilton, Ohio. Petitioner's mother, Alluster, was just a baby. In addition to Alluster, Alluster's mother, Hattie Bailey, and Alluster's grandmother lived in the home.

3) I really did not believe that Hattie Bailey had all her marbles. She was no mother at all to Alluster. If it were not for Alluster's grandmother and her uncle Tecumsah, I do not know what would have happened to Alluster.

4) Hattie did not care what Alluster would do; she just wanted Alluster to stay out of her way.

5) Hattie was a violent character who would become abusive. She would say a lot of things she would be sorry for later.

6) Alluster, like her mother, had a violent temper. It did not take much for her to get upset. She got into numerous fights.

7) Alluster married Petitioner's father, Nick Davis, at a very young age. When Alluster and Nick were first married, there were at times food shortages in their home.

8) Alluster was just about like Hattie as a mother.

9) After Nick and Alluster separated, there were a lot of men in and out of Alluster's life. The quality of care for the children, including Von, was poor.

10) Von was very small as a child. He suffered because of his size; he felt as if he were being taken advantage of.

11) Von had a violent temper. At times when he was angry, the other kids would have to catch and hold him until he cooled down.

12) Von would have violent outbursts in school. These outbursts were like those that Alluster and Hattie had.

13) I feel that Von is a product and victim of his environment. He faced rejection both at home and in the community.

14) Von was really out there on his own while he was growing up. He was not able to go home to talk to anyone.

COUNTY OF FRANKLIN,

I, Jeffrey L. Smalldon, Ph.D., after being duly sworn according to law, state as follows:

1) I am Jeffrey L. Smalldon, Ph.D., a psychologist associated with David J. Tennenbaum, Ph.D. and Associates, 3796 Olentangy River Road, Columbus, Ohio 43214-3455. My primary areas of specialization are forensic and neuropsychological assessment/consultation.

After graduating from Valparaiso University, cum laude, I obtained two subsequent masters degrees and served as Vice President for Mental Health and Alcoholism Services at the largest private general hospital in Ohio before obtaining my doctorate in psychology from The Ohio State University in 1989. Among my training experiences were two years of teaching introductory psychology, as well as internship assignments at two centers specializing in the assessment and treatment of forensic clients/patients. I completed my pre-doctoral clinical internship at Connecticut Valley Hospital, where my primary assignment was on an inpatient forensic unit. After receiving my Ph.D., I worked as a postdoctoral trainee at Riverside Methodist Hospital's Neurological Rehabilitation Center, where I continued on as a staff psychologist for almost a year after receiving my license from the Ohio Board of Psychology in 1990.

I have conducted many comprehensive neuropsychological evaluations, and on a number of occasions I have been qualified as an expert witness to testify in court regarding my findings. My training, experience, and qualifications in the area of neuropsychological assessment are further detailed in the attached condensed version of my curriculum vita that is included as an addendum to this affidavit.

2) I was requested by Joann Bour-Stokes and Linda Prucha of the Ohio Public Defenders Office to review selected background materials related to an aggravated murder case where Von Clark Davis was the defendant. I reviewed the following materials:

a) Affidavits from friends and family members of Von Clark Davis.

b) Records from the following sources:

Butler County Forensic Psychiatric Center
Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction
London Correctional Institution - Office of Psychological Services
Urbana University
Hamilton Board of Education
Southern Ohio Correctional Facility
Adult Parole Authority
Mercy Hospital - Hamilton, Ohio
Butler County Sheriffs Department
Naval Records for Von Clark Davis

3) On August 27, 1993, I administered a standard battery of neuropsychological assessment procedures to Mr. Davis. Included in the battery were the following tests: Bender Visual Motor Gestalt Test; Trail Making Test

(Parts A and B); Speech Sounds Perception Test; Seashore Rhythm Test; Controlled Oral Word Association Test; Booklet Categories Test; Wechsler Memory Scale-Revised; Sensory Perceptual Exam; Finger Oscillation Test; Tactual Performance Test; Wide Range Achievement Test - Revised; and the Rey's Fifteen Item Memory Test. In addition, I reviewed a Minnesota Multiphasic Personality Inventory II and a Wechsler Adult Intelligence Scale - Revised, administered by Dr. Nancy Schmidtgoessling on August 6, 1993.

4) The results of my examination include a number of significant indicators suggestive of possible underlying brain impairment. This conclusion is based upon Mr. Davis's performance on the following tests: Booklet Categories Test, Tactual Performance Test, and the Bender Visual Motor Gestalt Test, where he made the same error on three separate testings.

5) Based on these results, it is possible to draw some tentative inferences about the types of difficulties Mr. Davis might be expected to experience in his day-to-day functioning. Particularly relevant to the finding of possible brain impairment is Mr. Davis's pattern of poor performance on the Booklet Categories Test, the Total Time portion of the Tactual Performance Test and the Bender Visual Motor Gestalt Test. On this latter test he made the same rather unusual error on three separate trials, a finding that one would not expect to obtain from a non-impaired test subject. More specifically, he appears to be someone who would have difficulty generating alternative solutions to problems requiring logical reasonings and a sound appreciation for cause-effect relationships. His thinking is rigid, and he has trouble shifting to a new course of action even after it becomes clear that his first approach is ineffective. In addition to these deficiencies in logical reasoning and mental flexibility, he also demonstrated difficulty accurately perceiving spatial and visuospatial relationships.

Further Affiant saith naught.

I, Michael Shanks, being first duly sworn according to law, state the following:

1) I am an attorney licensed to practice law in the State of Ohio.

2) John Garretson and I represented Petitioner Davis at his capital trial in 1984. That trial resulted in a death sentence for Petitioner Davis.

3) Petitioner Davis's death sentence was subsequently reversed by the Ohio Supreme Court.

4) The Ohio Supreme Court remanded Petitioner's case to the Butler County Common Pleas Court for a resentencing hearing. Pursuant to the Ohio Supreme Court's mandate, Petitioner was eligible to receive the death penalty as a potential sentence.

5) John Garretson and I were appointed to represent Petitioner at his resentencing hearing.

6) Prior to the resentencing hearing, Mr. Garretson and I filed several motions on Petitioner's behalf.

7) On July 18, 1989, we filed a Motion for Further Psychological Evaluations, Appointment of a Social Worker to Prepare a Social History and for Payment of Extraordinary Expenses for Said Experts.

8) On July 24, 1989, we filed a Motion to Permit the Defense to Admit All Relevant Evidence at the Sentencing Phase.

9) The trial court held a hearing on these motions on July 31, 1989.

10) At this hearing, the trial court overruled both these motions. (Motion Hearing, p. 12.) Further, the three judge panel informed Mr. Garretson and I that we would not be permitted to introduce any additional evidence on Petitioner's behalf. The panel was going to limit its decision to the evidence presented at Petitioner's original trial. (Motion Hearing, p. 12.)

11) Mr. Garretson and I did proffer some additional mitigating evidence into the record at the resentencing hearing. This included Petitioner's good prison conduct and a psychological update from Dr. Fisher. (Resentencing Hearing, p. 2-6.)

12) We were unable to proffer any additional evidence because the trial court's denial of our motions denied us access to funds and expert assistance.

13) Had the trial court granted our motions, we would have employed the services of a mitigation specialist and a psychologist. We would have presented any evidence uncovered by these experts in an attempt to save Petitioner Davis's life.

14) Petitioner Davis is currently represented by the Ohio Public Defender Commission and has now had access to the expert services we requested at the time of Petitioner's resentencing hearing.

15) As a result of these services, additional evidence has been uncovered in Petitioner's case. I have reviewed the exhibits pertaining to this new evidence including the Affidavits of Alluster Tipton, Elliot Davis, Charles Tipton, Milton Flowers, Sherry Davis, John Lee, Dr. Jeff Smalldon and Dr. Nancy Schmidtgoessling.

16) I consider the information in these affidavits to be relevant to the determination of whether Von Clark Davis should live or die.

17) Had the trial court given me the necessary funds and the opportunity, I would have introduced this evidence at Petitioner's resentencing hearing.

Dear Mr. Bressler,

My name is Robert Jowers Beard, you may recall I talked with you in 1971 regarding the murder trial of Von C. Davis. I was in the house at the time of the murder and I must confess, I did see more than I previous told you about. Let me first make a couple of things clear I know Von committed a formidable crime, but under the circumstances I witnessed he had no intentions of committing the crime. And I'm only providing this belated information with the understanding that I'm not incriminating myself.

I'll be straight to the point. At the time of the crime I simply decided I didn't want to get involved, and my close friends thought it was wise that I stay out of it. I thought you would help Von more than you did as his counsel, and he wouldn't have to serve so much time. I have finally discovered the beauty of God and my conscience is afire, so I want to do what God would want me to do. Ernestines parents are nice people, and I just couldn't tell them she actually provoked the crime.

When Von came that day of the murder, Ernestine and I was upstairs, he arrived at the backdoor and she asked who was it, and he told her. She cursed to me about being tired of that bastard, and would stick him. She withdrew a large knife from under the mattress and swore she would use it. It was'nt my business so I stayed out of it. They were arguing in the kitchen, and when it became very loud I decided to leave coming down the stairs I remember him asking her why did she have a knife? Moving toward the door I saw Ernestine strike at Von with the knife, and then heard wrestling. To be honest with you, Ernestine was the aggressor and not Von, he was trying to talk to her. I couldn't see much more, only heard Ernestine yelling that she would kill him. I went back upstairs to comfort the children.

'Tis to my understanding that Von was to confused to tell the true facts, and I can understand why you couldn't detect this. I know it was premeditation because he did not have a knife with him, the knife that killed Ernestine was the

KNIFE SHE WITHDREW FROM THE MATTRESS, BECAUSE I SAW IT.
I DON'T KNOW IF THIS IS GOING TO HELP YOU NOW, BUT I MUST RELAY THIS CONFESSION ON TO HIS FAMILY SO THEY WILL KNOW THE TRUTH. I WAS THINKING OF SHOWING THIS LETTER TO YOU SINCE I SEE HIM DOWN HERE EVERYDAY. WHAT DO YOU SUGGEST? I MUST TELL HIM SOONER OR LATER. IF YOU WISH TO WRITE ME OR VISIT, PLEASE FEEL FREE. I MUST HELP HIM, GOD KNOWS IT WAS NOT HIS FAULT.

PETITION TO VACATE OR SET ASIDE SENTENCE: R.C. 2953.21

Now comes Petitioner Von Clark Davis, by and through his counsel, and petitions this Honorable Court for post-conviction relief pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. Section 2953.21 as follows:

JURISDICTIONAL FACTS

1) On January 12, 1971, Petitioner Davis was indicted by the Butler County Grand Jury on one count of First Degree Murder in violation of O.R.C. 2901.01.

2) On February 9, 1971, Petitioner Davis filed a motion to take the deposition of Robert Beard Jones, which the trial court entered and ordered the deposition to be taken on March 17, 1971.

3) On March 26, 1971, Petitioner Davis filed a motion to enter additional plea of not guilty by reason of insanity, which that court entered and counsel for Petitioner Davis withdrew on April 18, 1971.

4) Petitioner's trial began on April 12, 1971, and continued to April 13, 1971.

5) On April 13, 1971, Richard J. Wessel, Prosecuting Attorney of Butler County, entered a Nolle Prosequi to the words "deliberate" and "premeditated," in Petitioner's indictment.

6) Petitioner Davis pled guilty to the remaining charge in the indictment on April 20, 1971, and was sentenced to life in prison.

7) Petitioner Davis was represented at trial by the following attorneys:

A) H. Joseph Bressler

B) Hugh D. Holbrock

Holbrock, Jonson, Bressler and Houser
315 South Monument Avenue
Hamilton, Ohio 45011

8) On April 14, 1981, Petitioner Davis filed a motion for leave to file for a new trial in the Court of Common Pleas. The trial court overruled the motion on April 22, 1981.

9) Petitioner Davis was represented at this post-trial motion by the following counsel:

A) H. Joseph Bressler

B) Hugh D. Holbrock

Holbrock, Jonson, Bressler and Houser
315 South Monument Avenue
Hamilton, Ohio 45011

10) Mr. Davis alleges a denial or infringement of his rights, as to render his judgment or conviction void or voidable under the Ohio Constitution and the United States Constitution.

11) Some of the constitutional errors which entitle Mr. Davis to relief and which were not included in the record and therefore could not have been fully and completely asserted on appeal, include the following:

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

12) Petitioner Davis hereby incorporates paragraphs one (1) through eleven (11) as if fully rewritten herein.

Ernestine was killed. This letter was addressed to H.J. Bressler, attorney for Von Clark Davis. (Exhibit 1.)

20) The evidence of Robert Beard demonstrated that:

a) Mr. Beard was present in the house at the time Ernestine Davis was killed.

b) Mr. Beard saw more than what he had previously told Petitioner Davis's attorneys.

c) Mr. Beard stated that Petitioner had no intention of killing Ernestine Davis.

d) At the time of the killing, Mr. Beard did not want to get involved.

e) On the day of the killing, Ernestine and Robert Beard were upstairs.

f) Von Davis arrived at the back door of the house. Ernestine cursed and said she was "tired of that bastard and would stick him."

g) Ernestine took a large knife from under the mattress and "swore she would use it".

h) Beard heard Von and Ernestine arguing in the kitchen. When he came down the stairs, he heard Von ask Ernestine why she had a knife. Beard saw Ernestine strike at Von with the knife and heard wrestling.

i) Beard stated in his letter that Ernestine was the aggressor and Von was trying to talk to her. He stated that he heard Ernestine yelling that she would kill Von.

21) The above described circumstances demonstrate that Von's actions towards Ernestine were a response to her aggressive and threatening behavior. Robert Beard's evidence demonstrates that the killing of Ernestine was not "purposeful" as required by the statute under which Von Davis was convicted.

22) Petitioner's conviction must be reversed.

DEMAND FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Petitioner Von Clark Davis requests the following relief:

1) That Petitioner be granted an evidentiary hearing pursuant to O.R.C. Section 2953.21.

2) That Petitioner's conviction be determined void or voidable.

3) For such other further relief as the court may deem just and proper.
